Hello,

Thank you for contacting the End-of-Life Consultation (EOLC) program with Compassion & Choices and for expressing an interest in the work we do. We offer support, education and advocacy to individuals, families and healthcare providers interested in end-of-life options. EOLC provides accurate, unbiased and non-judgmental information on the full range of options at the end of life.

Enclosed you will find our EOLC District of Columbia information packet, which includes our End-of-Life Decisions Guide. These documents address an array of end-of-life issues and options for consideration. Our website provides additional material covering the spectrum of end-of-life topics. We invite you to visit CompassionAndChoices.org/end-of-life-planning.

To learn more about the District of Columbia's Death With Dignity Act visit dchealth.dc.gov/page/death-dignity-act-2016. If you have questions or need clarification about the enclosed material, please visit CompassionAndChoices.org/in-your-state/district-of-columbia or call to speak to an EOLC consultant. We hold all of your information in confidence. Please be aware that individuals do not need to contact C&C to access medical aid-in-dying laws and we do not maintain a referral list of physicians who prescribe medication for medical aid in dying. We are here as an information resource should you have any questions.

We are working toward the goal that all medical providers and health care systems offer the full range of end-of-life care options. Our Doc-to-Doc Program provides free consultation to physicians and pharmacists who want to learn more about providing end-of-life support to patients. If your physician or pharmacist is interested or has questions about end-of-life care issues, we invite them to visit our website: CompassionAndChoices.org/d2d or call 800.247.7421.

We hope the enclosed information helps you to better understand your options.

Warmest regards,

End-of-Life Consultation
